North Area Community Policing News – PS Crawford Laing

On 21st October I took up post as the Community Policing Team (North) Sergeant based at Galashiels. My background in Policing is mainly in Response Policing Teams across the Scottish Borders, Edinburgh, and East Lothian. I have also worked in Community Policing, Pro-active and Public Order roles.

I have lived in the Borders for over twenty years and fully appreciate that for most, it is a fantastic place to live, work and raise a family. The Scottish Borders remains one of the safest regions of Scotland however I understand that for some in our communities it may not always feel that way.

There was a gap between PS James Harrison leaving the CPT post and me starting which has resulted in no MMW Reports being prepared and distributed for a month or two and for that I apologise.

PC Gary Beaumont will join the Community Policing Team on 13th October in Tweeddale and will be a welcome addition to the team.

Local Policing Priorities

1. Protecting most vulnerable
2. Reducing violence and Anti-Social Behaviour
3. Reducing acquisitive crime

Hate Crime Awareness Week – 12th to 19th October

Hate Crime in all its forms is unacceptable and that is why Police Scotland is raising awareness of the impact hate crime has on officers and staff and, in turn, the communities they serve.

We have a duty and an opportunity to lead change to improve the experiences of our communities, including our officers and staff. Discrimination of any kind is utterly deplorable and unacceptable. It has no place in society and no place in policing.

The Your Safety Matters Assault programme underlines that hatred directed towards police officers and members of staff based on their actual or presumed race, religion, disability, sexual orientation and/or transgender identity will not be tolerated

Black History Month 2024

Police Scotland has teamed up with our friends and colleagues at SEMPER Scotland (Supporting Ethnic Minority Police employees for Equality in Race) to celebrate Black History Month.

For Police Scotland, Black History Month is a chance to celebrate the enormous value and contribution Black and Minority Ethnic citizens bring to communities of geography and interests across Scotland and to policing in Scotland.

This year Police Scotland and SEMPER continue to celebrate Black History month under the banner of Proud to Be, sharing contributions from our colleagues across a series of events on their achievements, pride in their culture and what the month means to them personally and as police officers and staff.

Black History Month is a celebration, but it is also an opportunity to highlight the action Police Scotland and the SPA is taking, and the further work required, to drive an anti-racist, anti-discriminatory agenda, as we seek to address complex and insidious wrongs which have deep roots through history and which persist today.

Policing Together is driving an anti-racist agenda to identify and eliminate the biases in practices and policies and to build a better service.

We are actively listening to under-represented communities, inside policing and across Scotland, to understand how we can better serve them.

Police Scotland is committed to increasing knowledge and learning on inclusion and has given every police leader the skills and tools they need to build effective and inclusive teams.

The success of this action will be measured by the improved experiences of our officers and staff, and of all the communities we serve.
